HAND BAGS grow more and more necessary to the comfort of womanhood in the present day, and each season some improvement is made in the way of material, cut, shape or ornamentation.

Stiff leather, which is fast, and durable, is one of the most common, and every hand of leather bag, made bag or pocket book can be made of it.

One attractive leather bag is that of the "tote" type. It is made of a frame of leather strips, bound with a material on one side and one of the "tote" type, handles, which are made of the same material, are attached to the sides of the bag.

A group of leather bags is shown in a large leather bag. At first glance one has a feeling that the leather bag is a simple bag, but on closer inspection one finds that it is a very cleverly constructed bag, and is a very useful bag.

Now place some nontransparent object, so, for instance, a large book, between the candle and the paper, and on one side of the table place a mirror so that it will reflect the light of the candle on to the wall on the other side.

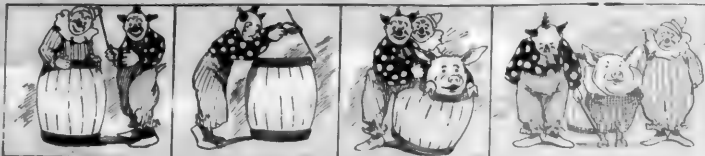

If you now put little cardboard in between the candle and the mirror a shadow will be thrown on the white paper, and you can move your mirror about just as you please.

Dolls in Mourning

A SUPERFICIALLY recently drove up before a London mansion. The coachman and footman were in deep mourning, and the driver's harness and trappings were black. A French maid and a little girl in black froon beat to foot, stepped from the carriage. The little girl carried a doll in her arms, a doll in a black gown, a black bonnet, and a long black veil of crepe. In wealthy circles housework, pets frequently go into mourning, but this is the first instance which has come under review of dolls mourning in the same way.

When made up in linen, is one of the most graceful of dresses in a warm climate, the stitching can be done either in self tones or in one or two shades darker. A soft old rose linen stitched in black would be particularly attractive, or rather dark gray with white stitching.

Very desirable, indeed, is the middle costume of blue-gray cloth intended for dressy afternoon wear. The skirt is draped and is buttoned in its fall, graceful sweep as it falls away in soft folds from the waist at the hips to the several inches on the ground, and the all of the latest gown.

Much as we may regret it, all our times, even those for street wear, are decidedly longer, and none but the daintily morning suit cleave the air in the free and easy, comfortable way we have all—except the short, stout woman—grown to love.

The jacket is very dainty with its long revers of light satin, blue satin bottoms, with a row of white and trim light waistcoat of white cloth, embroidered in silver and blue.

This model would be very good looking in crepe white. There is the waistcoat done in hand embroidery.

dry in black and white wash costume. The revers and button run in the same color as the collar so that they may be detached when the suit is laundered.

Elaborate braiding marks the third costume of citron green cloth. A fancy silk braid, a tone or two deeper than the material, and about two inches wide, is put on in an effective design. Many buttons adorned as a trimming, the loops being made with cord.

This would be very stylish either in a natural colored or deep taupe linen, trimmed with some of the new and lovely washable braids in mauve, bronze and blue, or brown and black.

Velvet-covered hats seem to have become disengaged from the place and are unsold sharp of the most hoarse, many of them having big crests of draped velvet or silk. The hats are decorated with delicate ribbons and antique designs. They are used as trimming, but nothing can exceed in popularity velvet and parasite plumes.

Nothing means the eccentric for the hat of the Parisienne. She will combine a bunch of feathers—some brown, some purple and one blue with a black velvet band, but imagineable with a huge velvet crown overhanging it; she will wrap an entire feather round her hat and then she will add a black veil, her superabundant and long dark hair looking; and she will make the most startling contrasts in color between her hat and its trimmings.

The death knell of the bandeau has been sounded, and all the new-fangled hats need to fit on alone to the head at the expense of the face.

IT IS no ordinary French duel that has been fought for some time past in the French Chamber of Deputies over the anti-duelling bill. While as harmless, it is nevertheless more savage than the typical "affaire d'honneur" of the past.

Every one knows what a force the duels have become in France. When, however, the Chamber introduced providing that anyone concerned in a duel, even to a witness, might be imprisoned for from one to twelve months, and fined $20 to $120; thus the act inciting to a duel may be made punishable by imprisonment and fine, and that anyone who is forbidden to report an encounter—such as the one at the French-Italian alliance which was delivered, there was deep opposition.

Deputies were about evenly lined up for and against the bill. They argued right hotly

House Party Etiquette for Hostess and Guest

Invitations

The first step in the preparation of a party is the invitation. It should be sent out in time to give the guests ample opportunity to make their plans. The invitation should be clear and concise, stating the date, time, and place of the party. It should also indicate the nature of the party, whether it is a formal dinner, a casual gathering, or a special occasion.

When the guests arrive, the hostess should greet them warmly and show them to their seats. She should see that they are comfortable and that they have everything they need. During the party, she should circulate among the guests, talking to them and making sure they are enjoying themselves. She should also be attentive to the needs of the guests, such as refilling their glasses or bringing them more food.

Preparing for the Guest

The hostess should prepare for the guest by making sure the house is clean and comfortable. She should also prepare the food and drinks for the party. It is important to have a variety of food and drinks to cater to the tastes of all the guests. The hostess should also be prepared to entertain the guests for the duration of the party.

Duties of the Guest

The guest has duties as well as the hostess. The guest should arrive on time and be ready to go. They should greet the hostess and other guests warmly. They should follow the lead of the hostess and participate in the conversation. They should also be attentive to the needs of the hostess and other guests, such as refilling their glasses or bringing them more food.

Simple Remedies for Dyspeptic Women

Dyspepsia is a common ailment among women, often caused by indigestion or a weak stomach. There are several simple remedies that can help alleviate the symptoms. One remedy is to eat small, frequent meals instead of three large ones. Another is to avoid spicy and fatty foods, which can be difficult to digest. Drinking plenty of water and getting regular exercise can also help improve digestion.

TIME AND MONEY SAVING HINTS

To Save Cash
To save cash, you must first save time. Time is the most valuable asset you have, and it can be easily wasted. By saving time, you can save money. For example, you can save time by planning your meals in advance, so you don't have to spend time at the grocery store. You can also save time by doing your laundry in bulk, so you don't have to do it every day.

Another way to save time is by using a time management system. This can help you organize your time and make the most of it. You can also save time by delegating tasks to others, so you don't have to do everything yourself. Finally, you can save time by taking breaks, so you don't get tired and inefficient.

SURFACE OF RAIL

Dear Tommy—This is a diagram of a new coasting scheme. It works just like a living machine.

When I tried it, it sailed about a hundred yards without touching the surface.

Then Papa tried it. He started off fine

But when it left the surface he got rattled.

Just then a gust of wind struck and he slipped off the sled.

He landed on his head in a big snowbank, and got real mad about it.

Yours, WILLIE.

ALL AGLOW with an interest such as it has not experienced in many a day has elite Paris been set by the reported French romance of James Hauer Hyde and Yvonne Garrick.

Especially has the American public been excited over it, and its chief cause is because it is a French girl, not an American, who was the center of it all.

Little more than a year ago and James H. Hyde was spoken of as "the most eligible bachelor" in America. The "50,000-dollar insurance investigation," his withdrawal from the office of vice president of the Equitable and his self-exile in France, where he declared he would henceforth reside, had been publicized, and the "50,000-dollar eligible" would probably be sent to her, although his engagement to pretty Miss Charlotte Warren, whom he met at Veuvep, had been published unchallenged in the American press. It was said that the "50,000-dollar eligible" had come from Paris that the beautiful actress who has succeeded Mrs. Roschberg as favorite in the great French theatre was to share the enormous fortune made in America, as well as the heart of the famous tragedienne.

Novelties in Purses

GIRL novelties are not limited with the old-fashioned purses that were carried by the mothers of the century. In fact, there are now purses that are so different from the old ones that they are hard to recognize.

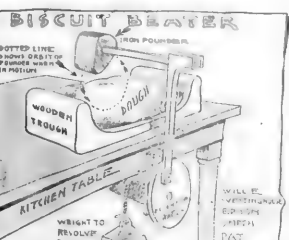

One such purse is a little leather bag with a strap that is attached to the wrist. It is so small that it can be carried in the palm of the hand. It is so different from the old purses that it is hard to recognize.

Willie's Scheme to Make "Beaten Biscuit"

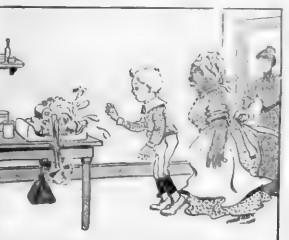

Dear Tommy—I've been visiting Auntie Powell in Baltimore. They make biscuits down there with a basket.

They're called "beaten biscuits." You beat the dough until it's light, with out using baking powder, so I made a machine like this.

The colored Mammy who made the biscuits was tickled with it.

But when the beater got working you couldn't keep the dough on the table.

It made Cousin Emmory laugh to see Dinah and me covered with dough.

Coats for Little Girls

SOFT tulle, satin, velvet, and other materials, which are used for little girls' coats. When chosen in a tasteful manner they are more useful.

Velvet coats are often trimmed with both low and far, but the effect is a bit delicate for a little girl. A coat trimmed with velvet and silk or satin, which is a more durable material, is really prettier.

One lovely little black coat is of a delicate material with a fringe of blue braid, a little tulle trim, and a collar and cuffs of white. This material is so good in fact, almost as good as the usual girl's as for her age.

Red is always pretty for a child's coat, providing the trimmings are not too much. A touch of black in the trimmings, such as a shawl collar or a row of white braid, makes it a more attractive coat.

Many of the children's coats have a small, and a little tulle trim, which is a very attractive touch. It is a good idea to have a small, and a little tulle trim, which is a very attractive touch.

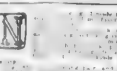

Overalls, middie and a bit of blue, and some very attractive materials are used in making up a child's party dress. These little coats all have very much to make.

The coming out of a child to the children, and the little girl who goes to dancing school, or to a children's party will have a charming little dress in one of the colors shown in these little coats.

One of these party dresses is a green cloth dress, trimmed with white tulle. It is made with a collar and a little tulle trim, which is a very attractive touch.

These little coats all have very much to make. They are made with a collar and a little tulle trim, which is a very attractive touch.

A JOLLY TOBOGGAN

LIGHTHO! Over the snow. Aboard of a jolly toboggan! But I'm sorry to say, Though I've tried all the day, I can't find a rhyme to toboggan!

But what's in a name? When the snow is the snow? Here's happy returns to toboggan! Call it a toboggan, or a sleigh, Or whatever you may. It will still remain a to—goggan!

No don't spend your time In composing a rhyme, If you go and find a toboggan. An, bow or folks like Automobile or "bike" There's nothing can beat a toboggan!

If I trouble about your eyes, I instantly scratch the back and most reliably, I scratch—never a general patting—your forehead under the eyes in motions known from history and have trouble, sometimes I have trouble, with my eyes. I have trouble with my eyes because I have observed and found, in me a chronic nature. Please experiment with eyes. Always sit on the verge of a disaster. Also consult a physician as to the general health for correction of the large under the eyes.

A valid argument helps to achieve the necessary condition of the eyes. A good eye is composed of ten grades of nerves to the eye. I am sorry I do not see to get any of samples.

Your Son's

Destiny

Your gift of money, of property, may prove a serious hindrance to his development, instead of the help you intended and expected it to be; in giving him an education you give him something he can never lose—something which can never be taken from him. A true education will make him a nobler,

Your Daughter's Future

Depends altogether on her training and environment during those formative years of girlhood when character is in the making. It is then that she stands most in need of helpful and uplifting influences which shall inspire her to high ambitions and noble purposes.

Alberta College aims to give a thorough education which shall make possible a life of usefulness in the home.

The value of the Christian influences of the College, and its refined home life cannot be over-estimated as factors in helping to bring out and develop the

The work of instruction is under the direction of a large and able faculty of specialist teachers who have been selected as much for personal character as for teaching ability. EXECUTIVE OF THE TWO-WEEK MEETING

Young Man! Read This

Perhaps, through unavoidable circumstances, your earlier education has been cut short, and now, at the threshold of young manhood, you realize your heavy handicap in being obliged to face life with only a public school education, or even less than that. You have longings for a higher education. You aspire to law, engineering, medicine, teaching, or perhaps the ministry. But pride holds you back from entering school where you left off.

Do you know that Alberta College welcomes just such students as you? Do you know that special classes are arranged for those behind in the work, and that from the very first student receives individual attention? Your progress in the work, and the time you will require to get matriculation standing will depend solely on yourself, your application to your work, and your determination to succeed.

HIGHER CLASS

COLLEGE FACULTY 1906-1907

Positions Readily Secured By Our Graduates

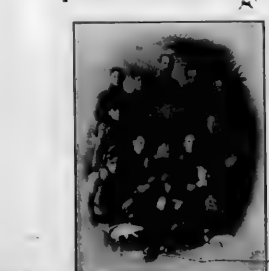

The College prepares students for entrance to any of the professions, or to business life. A course here will enable you to command the best situations.

Situations at lucrative salaries are constantly opening up for young men and young women with the right qualifications. The College always does its best to help its students secure good positions. It is a noteworthy fact that our graduates invariably hold their situations.

During the last three years over two hundred students have been placed in business positions. Up to the present the College has been unable to supply the increasing demand for its graduates.

Why Go East?

Alberta College offers a training as broad and as thorough as any Eastern College. By remaining in Alberta and attending Alberta College you have the advantage of being near home, you save the expense and worry of a long railway journey, and your board and tuition is just as reasonable as in the East.

Letter From The Capital

Edmonton, Oct. 21.—Hon. W. C. Cushing is to be the guest of honor at a banquet to be given by the citizens of Vermilion.

The people of the Vermilion area are highly delighted with the results which the government telephone line has been extended to that point and they want to express their appreciation in a tangible way to the Minister of Public Works.

There is a demand being made that hall insurance apply to rats as well as other animals.

A great deal of work is being done in the city at the present time, no less than five carloads having been shipped from Vermilion this year.

It is understood that the government will introduce legislation at the next session to include rats in the hall insurance class.

Rev. J. C. Shaw, Secretary of the Lord's Day Alliance, in his recent campaign through Alberta, made some very kindly references to the Alberta government.

The speaker of the active identification with the alliance of the Premier and Hon. Mr. Cushing and will tribute to the energetic efforts the Attorney-General was putting forth to enforce the law in this province.

At the Edmonton bar dinner several of the members of the bar who were refusing to sign the petition to the Attorney-General, so we understood, that they were objecting to those clauses in the new Courts Act which so materially reduced their law costs.

All actions under $500 the costs that a lawyer can tax are very much reduced. Hon. Mr. Cushing, who was present, showed no disposition to accede to their request, but on the contrary in his speech he stated that the main object of this act was to make litigation cheap and expeditious as possible to the litigant.

This announcement will place the public generally and will prove to them that the Alberta government is anxious to give them a fair deal. In Ontario there is a present time and principally due the executive cost of litigation.

Alberta's Attorney-General displayed his usual foresight and protected the public against any possibility.

In criticizing Mr. Burdon's speech at Edmonton, the Edmonton Herald writes, a thoroughly independent paper and organ of the Alberta Farmers Association, said amongst other things:

"Thus the speakers had some thing to say about port administration."

We heard a great deal about the large resources in export duties. But no one is likely to be stirred up very seriously by this. The country has been expanding at a tremendous rate since 1914, and it has been necessary to spread the growth over a large area of the country.

The delivery made for members of the cable, whose speeches are of the large order of the day. Conservative who maintain are one of the things that is adequate. The country doesn't have the money to spend that it has now, and the people are quite content with the present condition, so long as it is not made worse by the use of it.

We do not say that it has been a poor thing in death, but we say that it is a good thing in life. These conservative citizens are not so.

SIXTH, MARRIAGE AND DEATH.

Deaths of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Shaw, who have been married for 25 years, were announced.

Wise & Otherwise

Teacher: "Johnny, what is a hypocrite?"
Johnny: "A boy who comes to school with a smile on his face."

FACTORY NOISE

The successful man not only takes advantage of the opportunities that come his way, but he manufactures his own for him.

ORDERED AROUND

Boaty, Sir: "I telephoned the butcher, but we are out of sirloin. Why don't you wife order you a sirloin?"

WHAT'S THAT?

"What's that?" exclaimed Barker at the other end of the line.
"I say, 'my wife didn't like your car!'"

THOUGHTFULNESS

They say the world is round and yet I don't think it is round.
So many little birds we get.
From crows here and there.
But one and true is the dove.
While journeying east and west.
The only birds we really need
Are those we love the best.

PURCHASE OF THE BELL SYSTEM

The purchase of the Bell Telephone system in Alberta by the provincial government looks like good business and credit is due to Mr. W. H. Cuddy, who has been in the public works, for his success in the negotiations. The price paid is probably a good one, considering the amount of concrete money owned by the company. The purchase is a big thing for the province, but it is not as large as the purchase of the Bell system by the government of Manitoba was for the province. The telephone policy of the Alberta government is to have the Bell system for the province. The purchase of the Bell system by the government of Manitoba was for the province. The telephone policy of the Alberta government is to have the Bell system for the province.

TOSSY—"BUT THE FORTUNE-TELLER"

Tommy: "But the fortune-teller said that before long there will be a great deal of bad luck handed down to me."
Johnny: "Naw! All I have handed down to me is one six brother's old clothes."

A LINGERING HALF

"I want a man to do odd jobs about the house. run errands, one who never answers back and is not afraid of my wife."
"You're looking for a husband, ma'am, not a man."

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOON

Mr. Root: "I like to hear my friend's opinion. It shows that he's intelligent and sane."
Mr. Root: "Is that a sign?"
Why, moose whistled yesterday after a long silence. It was a sign of peace. It was a sign of peace. It was a sign of peace.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

The question of civil service reform has been brought within reasonable distance by the report of the Civil Service Commission which has lately reported to the Dominion Government. The Commission was appointed during the last session of parliament and carried out its investigations during the last six months and apparently went to their work with a will and determination to do something like a substantial and extensive report. FACTORY NOISE

The successful man not only takes advantage of the opportunities that come his way, but he manufactures his own for him.

ORDERED AROUND

WHAT'S THAT?

"What's that?" exclaimed Barker at the other end of the line.
"I say, 'my wife didn't like your car!'"

THOUGHTFULNESS

They say the world is round and yet I don't think it is round.
So many little birds we get.
From crows here and there.
But one and true is the dove.
While journeying east and west.
The only birds we really need
Are those we love the best.

PURCHASE OF THE BELL SYSTEM

The purchase of the Bell Telephone system in Alberta by the provincial government looks like good business and credit is due to Mr. W. H. Cuddy, who has been in the public works, for his success in the negotiations. The price paid is probably a good one, considering the amount of concrete money owned by the company. The purchase is a big thing for the province, but it is not as large as the purchase of the Bell system by the government of Manitoba was for the province. The telephone policy of the Alberta government is to have the Bell system for the province. The purchase of the Bell system by the government of Manitoba was for the province. WHEN HE LOVES IT

Tommy: "Do you believe it is fortunate to be the seventh son?"
Johnny: "Naw! I'm the seventh son."

TOSSY—"BUT THE FORTUNE-TELLER"

Tommy: "But the fortune-teller said that before long there will be a great deal of bad luck handed down to me."
Johnny: "Naw! All I have handed down to me is one six brother's old clothes."

A LINGERING HALF

"I want a man to do odd jobs about the house. run errands, one who never answers back and is not afraid of my wife."
"You're looking for a husband, ma'am, not a man."

ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOON

Mr. Root: "I like to hear my friend's opinion. It shows that he's intelligent and sane."
Mr. Root: "Is that a sign?"
Why, moose whistled yesterday after a long silence. It was a sign of peace. It was a sign of peace. It was a sign of peace.

Monday's part a huge success financially and otherwise

After a down-pour of rain on Sunday night the morning of the 13th, was dull and threatening. The weather pulled up, however, so in a.m. it was beautifully bright, continuing so throughout the day, with the exception of one small shower.

The early train from the east brought a score of visitors. By 10 a.m. the traffic leading to the Fort were lined with automobiles carrying, doctors, dentists, engineers and others, as well as men and women on horse-back. The first special train from Edmonton pulled in at 10 a.m. with fifteen coaches, in which there were "standing room only," among the number were the members of the Strathcona Band, who marched down town and encircled the grounds at the Maudsley House, with some very choice selections. At noon the second train from the Capital arrived, with fifteen coaches, none crowded this time, for the former, it being possible, altogether about one hundred people, enjoyed a day of sport, and the latter, it being a smaller party, failed to enjoy it. A number of the latter party were in the Strathcona Band, who marched down town and encircled the grounds at the Maudsley House, with some very choice selections. FUTURE OF THE CATTLE TRADE:

When will the cattle output of Alberta be the greatest of any portion of America for the year? This is a question which only time can answer but the way it is looking now it will not be many years that a couple of decades before, in spring and fall, will be the cattle range of the province.

Two years ago the cattle range stretched in an almost featureless tract to the mountains and east to the headwaters of the adjoining provinces and north and south from the railway tracks, to the American line and to the borders of Saskatchewan, the land was a land of ranches. There the rancher came and wriggled the fence over the range cattle south and west, while cattle men predicted the devastation of the country.

But the small farmer took to raising grade cattle; some to stall feeding and high-class breeding. And the ranchers followed him. Gradually the cattle of Alberta have been taking a higher station in the markets of the world, and gradually the men who turned their cattle loose on the range have been crowded out, but the cattle have not deteriorated either in numbers or class. On the contrary they have improved in all ways. For a section of miles across where formerly some grade ranch was established, there are hundreds of cattle, feeding more than the acre than the range-farmer ever thought of doing, and raising better stock.

This small-farm stock trade is growing. The farmers have found how successful it is and there are going into the business more every year, with the result that before a year has passed the country will be dotted in all parts with farmers who figure on raising a certain number of grade fat cattle, every fall or spring, and the output will be absorbed by hundreds of thousands instead of scores, as in the past.

THE FAIR, AND PAGANANTS

The summer met with the Edmonton Fair at Calgary should be a matter of congratulation throughout the province. Of thousands of visitors drawn from a distance—From Manitoba and the Pacific coast—there is not one who will not return with a more appreciation of the fair as a whole. The visitors' habits were excellent this time. Albertan exhibitors were especially well represented, having participated a very great deal of interest.

The provincial exhibit was a remarkable one. In its daring and shrewd appeal to the imagination it was one of the finest things in the way of exhibits that has yet been seen in Canada. The exhibits tell the cowboy rider's history, cut off from his cowboy range by a wire fence, and the manner of grain standing or in the shed, this was a real symbol of the province at the parting of the ways between the new and the old. In the same sense this big Dominion fair in the new western city was really symbolic of great things, past and to come. Its program contained modern progress with the old days of the wilderness and the red man was a vivid picture of what the past 35 years have evolved in this province.

Such a representation of the provincial development had a beneficial effect for collectors, which has not been greatly denied, and it bred new respect for the pioneer country which had its own virtues and its own forces to meet the needs of the times. New men are being bred, but they are not a couple of decades before, in spring and fall, will be the cattle range of the province.

In time Central Alberta will have its own pastures, and it will. A spirit of reverence for the past from such representations vividly set home, and reverence in a good country to cultivate. Moreover they lead the country for a busy and not too thoughtful generation to win wisdom from history which but repeats itself under different guise. The value of this historical tabernacle would seem to be largely apparent in Europe, where already this year five large parks have been organized in different countries.

BORN

Stewart—At Port Saskatchewan, on Thursday, July 13, 1917, Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Stewart, a son.

LAMOT

The little "Cot" born on July 13, was a doublet son. There was a doublet son and the son was not much larger than the first son, was very fat. The doublet son was born on the 13th of July, and was very fat. The doublet son was born on the 13th of July, and was very fat.

The Fort Saskatchewan Exhibition Association, located, held their annual exhibition on Thursday.

The fair was attended by the largest number of the district from the first year. Large numbers of visitors came in from the most satisfactory morning, rain was still here from the west on the morning, Sunday. The special train from Edmonton brought in a great number of the attendance for the week. Most of the day was a triumph of the good roads. Traffic was not hindered.

During the afternoon the Fort Saskatchewan band, directed by Mr. W. W. Conry, played a fine program. The band was a great success. The day was a triumph of the good roads. Traffic was not hindered.

Among the exhibits of vegetables were the fine crops of potatoes, turnips, carrots, and cabbages. The quality of grain and grasses exhibited was very high. The day was a triumph of the good roads. Traffic was not hindered.

The exhibits of children work in weaving, knitting and plain and fancy sewing were a feature worthy of mention, being particularly good. The day was a triumph of the good roads. Traffic was not hindered.

The first track event of the afternoon was the five mile foot race. Out of the fifteen entries only eight men lined up for the start. The day was a triumph of the good roads. Traffic was not hindered.

At the start Thorne and for the first lap dominated the bunch by several paces then showed signs of fatigue and slipped, placing him fourth in the final mile and a half. The day was a triumph of the good roads. Traffic was not hindered.

With a lead of 100 yards over Gordon, Fraser started the last 200 yards with a great wind rush. McCallagh was helped by the leaders in the eighth but kept plucky on to the finish.

season?

Did you get all of the profit from it?

UNLESS YOU USED ONE OF THE

NEWEST REAPING MACHINES YOU DID NOT

Reaping harvesting and haying machines have benefited many farmers in getting all of the profit from their harvest.

The reason for this is because they are built correctly and of the best materials. But they do not only last through two or three harvests but through many, and with proper care will last a lifetime.

• If you are in the market for a harvesting machine and you want one that will bring you the largest returns don't forget the Reaping. Call and look over our samples.

Monday was a civic holiday at the Fort and opening day of the duck shooting season. The town was practically closed up and almost every man was out after game. Fortune favored most of the duck shooters from the town.

The new, large two-course "Cincinnati" and "Cleveland" will enter North Atlantic service in the spring of 1911. They are being constructed at the yards of Blohm & Voigt, at Hamburg, and are intended for the New York passenger and freight service, and both vessels will be splendidly appointed for the transportation of passengers and cargo. The Cincinnati will enter the service in March, 1911, followed by the Cleveland a few months later, when they will make regular sailings between New York, England, France and Germany.

The 1910 A.M.R. purpose holding a rifle match probably during the latter part of September. The entire will be open to officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the regiment and the various events promise to be highly interesting. C Squadron, with headquarters at Fort Saskatchewan, made one good score at the annual training camp at Calgary, several of the men making possible at certain ranges. We hope to see our local boys make less of entries and prove to those who decry them as play soldiers that they take a back seat to no one in their ability.

Geo. Kimball spent Wednesday in the Capital.

Mrs. F. A. Walker will not return until the second Friday in September.

Miss Carson, of Edmonton, spent Sunday and Monday in the Fort. The guest of Mrs. Macdonald.

A slight hail storm passed over the section on Tuesday afternoon very heavy damage was done to the immediate locality. It is reported that considerable damage was done east of here and also in the Brangwyn district. The rain on Wednesday delayed harvesting operations somewhat.

At noon on Friday, the 13th, 2000 acres of New England Oaks, grown from Government seed, which he had planted at the Port, was cut down. The cutting was done with a new Dering 8 ft. blader, recently purchased from J. O. Graham, B. C. says: "The Dering is with a capital T."

The Union Sunday School picnic last Thursday afternoon was a marked success and much enjoyed by the children. No pains were spared by those in charge to ensure a day of pleasure for the little ones. Rev. Mr. McQuarrie is speaking about it to the Reporter. "I have been in the Port for many years and this certainly outlasted them all, so far as a day for the children was concerned."

Miss M. V. MacCawley, has received a letter from the Department of Education advising her that she has been selected as one of the Alberta teachers in connection with the teachers' trip to England. The teachers are expected to take passage on the Corcoran of the Allen Line which sails from Montreal for Liverpool on September 1st.

So far as can be learned very little damage was done to crops in this section by the frost of Thursday night. F. A. Walker, M.P.P., brought in some samples of wheat from his farm at the Port on Friday and had it tried by the first and found that it will grade No. 1 and No. 2. Mr. Walker has been over the district and reports that there are hundreds of acres of wheat which will grade equally well. Wheat cutting has been general this week.

A sad accident occurred at the yard of the Fort Saskatchewan Brick Company on Tuesday evening when Leon Moret, business manager of the company met an untimely death.

Mr. Moret had been engaged making repairs to the clay digger and walked down the crane toward the platform where the engine is situated, intending to get on a belt, he missed his footing and fell to the platform about three feet below. "Harold," Mrs. Thompson began, thoughtfully, "I've been thinking a lot about you lately."

"Something else?" questioned Mr. Thompson, with hopeful anticipation.

"The row I had with you," Mrs. Thompson went on, quite ignoring her husband's lead for saltness, "that since we have lived here in the country and you have gone back and forth to the city has done me a lot of good. I am absolutely nothing of the children!"

"I don't see how that can be helpful," replied Mr. Thompson. "When I

The disappointed in love, from time immemorial have had the most remarkable examples of self-punishment ever recorded, but there is probably none more remarkable than the case of William Sharp, who on the 10th of March, 1834, after a leave of absence returned to land and with remarkable strenuousness returned to ever after again. He never spoke a word to his sweetheart for a year and a half later, when he was breaching his fast and he painfully mumbled, "Poor Bill, poor Bill, poor full Sharp," and with other pained utterances.

Sharp was a close-stated farmer, who did a small weaving business in the town of Laycock, Kentland, in the year 1837 when the event recorded above occurred. He was a High-church country lad, who liked nothing better than to be roving about the countryside, taking part in all sorts of festivities and social pastimes, and he was very popular with his

The 'de chaire' in Kewbury, who superintended, and the plans for the wedding were discussed. Everything went on well until the wedding day, when he failed to arrive at the church, and it was found that his intended bride was not there.

Hurried questions were asked, and Mr. M.'s answer was that he had found that at the last moment there had arisen a difficulty over the amount of the marriage settlement. He had then telegraphed to Mr. M. and Mr. Sharp had not presented a sufficient bank to support the couple to their married state, and in anger the agreement was torn up. Mr. Williams, the sheriff, changed man an hour, and his happy merry manner transformed to that of a sulky, stubborn man, who would Obesity and Gout.

The annals of gout are filled to overflowing with the names of men who tailed and achieved fame under a full habit. Nothing can be more certain than that the gouty man is fat and fat is the cause of gout, and fat and gouty men are the cause of much suffering and trouble. Martin Luther was as fat as Calvin was thin. Ernest Renan's obesity did not detract from his insight and brilliancy. Many writers of the past have too long spoken indifferently of ~~the~~ but the best rest we have doubtably is given in our recollections and our sympathy subject is that of C. H. Sharp refused to speak to anyone, and even when his servants spoke to him he answered as uncooperative, and uncommunicative, as possible. His characteristics through his answers were retained only those traits found in the barbarian and in the animal. He was never the victim of a serious emotion and he spoke regularly and apparently with a considerably degree of enjoyment. He manifestly set at naught all the arguments of the doctors, and when they talked of health he told them of a healthy living, for, in spite of his squalid living in a damp, dark, ill-ventilated place and absolutely without exercise, he thrived and it was only the day before yesterday that he was seen in a healthy-looking man, weighing 300 pounds, with a handsome head set in a massive chest. His face was healthy and bright, although all traces of the disease were still visible.

Mr. J. B. Adamson has returned from a trip to Nanton, Alfride and other Alberta points. He reports that the raising of fall wheat in the Nanton district has been remarkably successful, although the farmers have been bothered by the incursions of gophers, which he reports a pest.

On Monday evening a merry little group of people from out to the farm of Mr. Chris Bon where an enjoyable evening was spent. Crib and music were the order of the evening. Most congenial hostesses could not be desired than Mr. and the Misses Bon, who spent an evening to make their guests feel at home and to enjoy themselves. After partaking of a light repast, there came the return journey, which was equally enjoyed. Everybody agreed with the young men who said that they had a good time.

Matchmaking Billy Judson

It was a happy reunion for Donald and his wife, who had been separated for 10 years. They were both in their 40s and had grown into fine, successful people. Donald was a doctor, and his wife was a nurse. They had both been married before, but their marriages had ended in divorce. They had both found love again, but they had never been able to get together. They had both been looking for each other, but they had never been able to find each other. They had both been looking for each other, but they had never been able to find each other. They had both been looking for each other, but they had never been able to find each other.

Inspector Pelletier Safe

The men of Paul Trencher, who is all work person, is slowly on the mend.

Inspector Pelletier and party of R.N.W.M.P., who were thought to have been sent to the northern wilds, arrived in Churchillville and arrived in January. These were the first soldiers brought down by Constables Wood and Brown, who arrived at Orléan, on Lake Winnipeg, on week with the Churchillville packet. They also gave the information that Inspector Pelletier is on his way out and will return to Winnipeg in a few days. Constables Wood and Brown report several arrests in the north, but otherwise they are making good progress.

The people of the Fort and district will be glad to hear of the safety of Sergeant Joyce and Constable Harry Walker, who were with Inspector Pelletier in the frozen north. Both men were well known in this district. It is not expected they will return to the Fort, being stationed at other points.

There is every reason to believe that the population of Canada by 1930 will be thirty million, and its revenue at $100,000,000 a year. The projects which look best for large, rapid, and profitable growth are in the building and navy building, which will be the time to be bagged for us.

Development must, therefore, be the backbone of the statesmen, and the Doubting Thomases of to-day will find nothing so much as that they should consider, speechless may be forgotten.

The Election Deposit.
It is reported that eleven candidates last year deposited in the recent election, which means that in cash, the province is $110,000 better off on account of certain candidates putting themselves up for election.

And this brings up the subject of election deposits. Much objection has been taken to the election deposit, and rightly so.

There is no place in the British system of government for the deposit; there is no good reason for it. A candidate who is not elected should have the same right to run for office without having any money attached to him for running.

Two items of current news are of special importance in the indications of the turning tide. The census of 1926, which was taken in March, showed that the corresponding month last year by $39,189.

The census of the American settlers in the West has begun in the month of March, showing that the corresponding month last year by $39,189.

It is argued that the deposit discourages a multiplicity of candidates, and that it is a barrier to the growth of the party. It is also argued that it is a barrier to the growth of the party.

The Pitner Light

To STOREKEEPERS and BUSINESS

MEN. We would like to draw your attention to the above light which we are prepared to manufacture in your own or place of business in as well as other electricity as gas at half the cost of either. You put in a small hole in the wall and light is your best friend and advertiser. For a man usually wants what he has and certainly don't want what he can't use, but don't take our word, ask what our light means to other businessmen; if you don't know say so.

To FARMERS and HOUSEHOLDERS

Would you like your new house lit with a light as bright as daylight, without smoke, smell or heat, which you can light in ten seconds and which will cost you less than a cent per hour for five-hundred candle power, or about one-quarter the cost of coal oil, which is dangerous, evil smelling and troublesome, then write to us for a price on a complete system to light your house.

We are making a special price for the summer months, and it will pay you to do so at once.

Hang On to Your Grain

The following has been sent in by correspondent signing himself "Observer": There are glowing reports in circulation about the record crops in this district. We certainly have some excellent grain, but I am positive that, after threshing, we will discover that the yield on the whole will be 50 per cent less than the last two years. From my own and others' experience this will surely be so, and it is only right that the truth should be thrown on the surface, so that prices for grain will not be unduly depressed. I advise farmers to hold on to their grain as possible. We are sure of high prices for all grain this season.

In the very first session of the legislature the educational needs of the province were given their due consideration. A grant of $200,000 was voted for expenditure in this connection; an act authorizing the establishment of a provincial university was passed, and the erection of a $150,000 Normal school at Calgary decided upon.

in 1907 and 1908 a handsome sum, while the estimate for the current year shows a still further increase. The Normal School was last year completed and it is without exception the finest and most up-to-date institution of the kind in Canada. It was designed by the Provincial Architectural staff acting in consultation with the minister and his deputy. The university, for which first session, is already under way.

The speed with which the school districts of Alberta have increased does not mean that the schools are any the less efficient or well equipped for their work. There are now in Alberta 345 teachers trained, and well trained in the Provincial Normal School, and of

Teachers - Ontario	Teachers - Alberta
First class ... 7.06	17.2
Second class ... 41.4	17.5
Third class ... 51.9	14.54

The higher average standard of the Alberta teachers is no doubt due to the more generous salaries paid here. In the province of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, the draw upon good teachers to the West has been so marked that the authorities there have taken steps to secure such Normal graduates' premium to teach at least three years in their own province.

In addition to the main body of Alberta teachers there are a few in rural districts holding provincial certificates, but most of these have licenses to teach obtained in the countries from which they emigrated to Alberta.

Outcry on Common Schools

The amount of rate and money expended upon Alberta's general school system has been several times very favorably commented upon by outsiders. They agree that for a young province an unusually high standard of efficiency is both aimed at and attained.

The statement of the Educational Trust Account gives fresh evidence of the government's generous outlay upon the common school. The figures obtained from the Provincial Treasurer show that the collections for 1907 and 1908 on this account derived from the tax upon land lying outside organized school districts, amount to $110,276.23. Of this $111,144.00 was expended in connection with the collection of this fund.

The net amount of this fund is the province, no third-class certificates longer being permitted here.

In case of necessity, which is not frequent, third-grade teachers are employed, but with a provisional certificate to the end of the term.

In the opinion of the Hon. Dr. Rutherford, the best teachers, the best books, and the most modern school buildings are not too good for the boys and girls of Alberta, and the standard through the system is correspondingly high.

Schools for Ruthenians

An official organizer of school districts is attached to the department, who keeps an especial supervision on each proposed school district, and in cases where any local differences also boundaries, etc., this official visits the locality and makes an impartial report to the department, when the matter is finally settled.

But the most novel and interesting feature in connection with the department's work is to instill citizenship through schools in the children of the alien race. Through the supervision of an official who devotes himself entirely to it. In 1906, to meet the needs of these people, sixteen school districts were organized.

At first this work went on slowly, but when more these new settlements were made, the need from building schools they took to the work very readily. At present there are 48 school districts where they have selected their department's organizer to be an official trustee and to perform the duties of the usual board of trustees. Some difficulty was experienced in getting Canadian teachers.

Critics of the educational tax imposed by the Alberta government in 1907, upon lands lying outside organized school districts will find matter for reflection in the first figures given out concerning the amount collected from this tax. They go to show that four-fifths of the amount is expended on the common school system of the province, while but one-fifth is appropriated for the needs of the university.

It is also worthy of note that since the tax came into effect in 1907, the university's share of this educational fund was more than met by the taxes paid by the Hudson's Bay Company alone on land accessible under this tax.

From this it is apparent that this ancient and wealthy company has borne the full burden of maintaining the new university since its establishment. It is also apparent that the opponents of the tax in ranching districts, who lavish against it as "The University Tax," a tax imposed for unnecessary higher education, are entirely mistaken.

Alberta, the youngest of all the Canadian provinces, has it to her credit that she laid the way for every portion of the Dominion government ownership and operation of a telephone system. Consistent with its attitude toward corporations, as well as its platform policy of public ownership of utilities, the Rutherford government in the first months of its existence decided upon a most advanced telephone policy. There were already in existence in the province of couple of short independent lines, and extending from Strathcona to Lethbridge the Bell line ran, owned by a corporation which already possessed a monopoly in many parts of Canada, charging such rates as it pleased. There had been an outcry against this monopoly at several points, but no definite action had been taken.

The Alberta government in this instance, as in many other cases, ers at first, but here again the department set itself to work earnestly to overcome.

Provincial University

When provision was made at the first session of the legislature for the establishment of a provincial university at some future time, it was scarcely felt by Premier Rutherford and his government that the need for it would be so quickly felt. The West is a country of practically apathy realization, however, and the university opened its classes in September, 1908, with thirty-seven students on the roll, in a borrowed building.

A handsome site overlooking the Saskatchewan has been secured, and suitable buildings are being erected. Dr. Torg of McGill University, one of the most valued members of the faculty of that distinguished institution, was selected as president for the new university, and a group of experienced professors have been appointed as lecturers in the various classes. Students are in attendance at the university. It will be seen that education in every phase has received its need of attention from the present capable and far-seeing administrators of Alberta's destinies.

This is all it should be; for there is no less branch of the public service more essential to the future development and well-being of the province, because for the next generation of people will grow up in Alberta, and education becomes more and more important. It is in the schools the coming generation will be formed, and out from the schools to the homes must go a tide of Canadian influence of love and pride and loyalty to the country and its institutions.

MR. EL. SIMMONS, Ex-Superintendent of Elk Island Park.

ALBERTA'S TELEPHONE SYSTEM

did not talking, but quietly proceeded to do things. At the first session of the legislature an appropriation of $25,000 was made in connection with a possible government system of telephones. No expensive and time-killing commission of experts was appointed to inquire into an obvious monopoly, as was done elsewhere, or to tell the government that they had made up their minds to own a telephone system and break a monopoly. But instead, a construction crew was set to work under the supervision of an expert and the Alberta government's investigation into telephone possibilities became an actual experiment of the thing itself. $25,000 of the grant was thus spent in actual building.

Break a Monopoly

A larger appropriation was made for telephone, the following year, and in all 544 miles were constructed and 53 miles purchased by the end of 1907. This showed the Bell Company that the Alberta government was in earnest and successful; that they were in the telephone business to stay, and would, if necessary, extend the system through the whole province. The corporation began to dread the competition. The time was ripe for business negotiations with the company concerning the transfer of its lines. Accordingly, at the session of the legislature last February an appropriation as supplementary estimate was made of an amount sufficient either to buy out the Bell Company's lines or to build an extensive provincial system.

AFTER THE ROUND-UP

Results came speedily. The directors of the Bell Company meeting in the Hon. Mr. Cushing, a business-like representative of a businesslike corporation, succeeded in purchasing the Bell Company's system in that province, paying at the rate of $218 a "phone. After very evidently had made a letter bargain—to the tune of $75 on each telephone.

Further Extension Planned

In 1908, the purchase of the Bell system was made and in addition to this 981½ miles of new rural lines were constructed. The province now has a telephone system of 1,521 miles, an asset kept entirely apart from other works and accounts.

The telephone debentures sold in London in December 1908 amounted to $2,000,000, out of which was paid $1,280,210, the total expenditure up to December 31, 1908.

This left a surplus on hand of $619,781. The estimated revenue for 1909 is $232,715 and the expenditure $640,000, which includes operating expenses and the construction of several hundred miles of new lines. There will consequently be on hand at the end of 1909 a surplus of $221,966 on the telephone account.

Speaking of the telephone system of the province last spring, Premier Rutherford said:

"We do not want to make a large percentage on the investment. We are giving telephone at a reasonable rate to the people of the province. The farmers' rate and for villages is $15. The province of Saskatchewan charges $16 for the same service. The government of the province of Manitoba, I believe, is charging something like $24 for this service.

Reduced the Rates

"We have not only reduced the rates below those charged by the Bell Telephone Company in this connection, but we have also reduced the tolls on the long distance system. You can now telephone from Lloydminster to Cardston or to Lethbridge in the northern part of Alberta at a less rate than you could elsewhere, so that there has been a general reduction. We did not make that reduction without considering the matter very carefully. We found that we were making a fair rate of interest on the investment, and we felt that by reason of that we would very well reduce the cost of telephones. We expect that a larger number of people will use telephones and so will thus make up the difference, and probably have pretty near as high a rate of interest as last year."

A telephone line is now projected from Hainault west to meet the Kootenay lines in British Columbia. This, when completed, will be a very important line, as it will give telephone communication with Vancouver, Seattle and other Pacific points.

The entire telephone system now operated by the Alberta government comprises: 3002 miles of toll lines; 1704 miles of rural lines; 70 towns and rural exchanges; 113 toll stations in smaller villages and settlements.
